NO BANDS ALLOWED ON STREETS TODAY

Berlin, May 10.—The Berlin
chief of police issued an order tonight that no bands of music will be permitted on the streets on the occasion of the entry of President-elect Von Hindenburg tomorrow. The nationalists will thus be prevented from greeting the famous march "Frederick
the Great," which is extremely popular with German militarists.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Berlin, May 10.—A blue sky is all that's needed to make perfect Berlin's
welcome to President-elect Von Hindenburg on his arrival from Hanover Monday afternoon. Such discordant notes as are audible on the eve of his coming are to be heard solely in socialistic and communist quarters,
where the adherents of both, radical
parties are being summoned to counter-demonstrations of protest against the advent of the field marshal as head of the republic.

Both democratic and center parties
will participate in tomorrow's ceremonies and former Chancellor Wilhelm Marx, Von Hindenburg's rival for presidential honors, announces his intention of attending the inauguration ceremony in the reichstag at noon Tuesday.

Field Marshal von Hindenburg will be greeted along the march by 200-400 members of self-appointed reception committees, police headquarters having estimated the number by the uncounted organizations that have requested places along the route.

Ride With Luther.
As the hour of his arrival coincides
with the close of working hours, it is expected that at least a million
and a half men, women and children will endeavor to get a view of the new president as he speeds down the center path of the mile highway which will be reserved for his exclusive use.

He will ride by the side of Chancellor Luther and his car will be flanked by 20 motorcycle police. Virtually 75 per cent of Berlin's police force has been assigned to duty along the route. The nationalist organs, naturally are more profuse in their greetings to the new executive than are the liberal newspapers, although the latter in their discussions abstain
from partisan reflection and are inclined to show themselves good democrats, inasmuch as they are not popularly elected. On the flag issue, however, the liberal organs are fully as determined as before to resist any attempt to throw over the republican colors adopted at Weimar, although Theodor Wolff, editor of the Tageblatt, admits today that the substitution of the new flag in 1919 for the old was a superfluous outburst
of republican fervor. "When the Kanputz collapsed in March 1920, he asserts, he suggested that the old monarchical colors should be consecrated to the service of the republic.

Conflict of Flags.
The conflict of flags threatens to be the only discordant note in tomorrow's festivities and in all appearances the old colors will predominate.
The communists who are calling for counter-demonstrations, are being rebuffed by the socialists who accuse
the German rule of having helped to elect Von Hindenburg and contend that for this reason they are not entitled to protest. The socialist party has
in a proclamation urged the party
members to boycott the von Hindenburg reception, declaring:
"We do not intend to stand shoulder
to shoulder with these arch-enemies
of the republic, but shall oppose them
in open battle."

The German peace league in placarding the city with announcements
of public demonstrations to be held Tuesday at which prominent political leaders and pacifists will discuss the subject: "Hindenburg, president—how now?"

The league's announcement sets forth that Field Marshal von Hindenburg is entering Berlin over the same route traveled by Captain Ehrhardt's Baltic brigade at the time of the Kano putsch.

"It will now depend on German republicans whether this ominous symbol presages cruel political reality,"
says the league's backers in an appeal which, incidentally, urges all republicans and unitarians to demonstrate against "the field marshal and mon-archist as president."

LIGHTS OF NEW YORK

As Seen By--

Pierre Van Paassen

New York, May 10.—The Salvation Army is using hurdy-gurdies in the streets in connection with one of its regular money drives. While I passed one of these collection stations, a Hallelujah lassie was passing the tambourine among the passers-by,
while the street piano grounded out
the not inappropriate, "Everybody's Doing It."

"The ultra-modern woman of Paris
wants her hips back," said Monsieur Raoul Merivue, famous dress designer, when I asked him for a prophesy on the style of the future.
"This latter-day flatness is passing,
it was unnatural and involved too
many hardships," he added, probably referring to all the reducing maneuvers the ladies have had to indulge in the last few years.

This desire for hips may be an imitation of the male species. He is rather heavily equipped in the hip-
pocket region of late.

I can't for the world of me see
why they call these things speakers. When I entered the first one I came in on tip-toe and held a whispered conversation with the barkeep. The fellow, mistaking my timidity for something else, fairly shouted: "You got a bad cold, brother. Better have something strong!" There was some good-natured laughter
among other patrons, but at no
time, then or since, have I seen anybody, speak easy, go easy or drink easy.

Jack Dunstan's famous cafe, so ideally located half way between Broadway and Fifth avenue, has closed its doors after 35 years of operation.

In those days of antiquity
when it opened, it was the favorite resort for stage, society and visiting royalty. King Albert once tasted the oysters there and praised their quality. I was told this when my nationality became known. I asked whether the Prince of Wales had been there. He had dropped in for a drink of ginger ale with some friends. Roosevelt, Carnegie, Caruso,
the Goulds and hundreds of other prominent people delighted in Jack's place.

The other place visited by the Prince of Wales, the Lido Venice,
was padlocked the other day to help
the locksmiths in their new business boom.

The Rajah of Mirabar, who is a visitor in New York, took a stroll in the shopping district yesterday afternoon. Though he wore a European frock coat and a silk hat, his towering personality drew the curious gaze of the crowd the more as he was followed by a few paces by two giants of Sikh servants. The Sikhs were the turban of the Hindu and cast their flaming eyes, seemingly full of suspicion, in all directions. In the dining room of the hotel where the rajah stays, he comes downstairs in the scarlet uniform of a British colonel,
his breast dazzling with orders and decorations. The Sikhs stand behind his chair, silent as statues. The hotel
reports an increase in dinner guests.

The season is petering out.
Every boat to Europe is loaded with tourists and artists, seeking a change of atmosphere. They'll have one unanimous message
when they return: "Glad to be back home."

It's a foregone conclusion
they're returning. This country has certain advantages after all though you wouldn't think so to hear all the criticism.

A young man in the subway slipped me a printed card on which appeared an invitation "to associate with the world's greatest manufacturer and industrial genius in development, some great plant." First I felt rather flattered that I should have been selected and already began
to picture myself smoking long cigars in some directors' room when I looked up from perusing the card
and saw that the young fellow was handing out his invitations indiscriminately.

I realized that not all these people could be directors and I also realized that darn few people were anxious to share millions of profits.
Or as a Quebec munition manufacturer said during the war, "Few people run their business for the glory of God or as a philanthropic institution for the benefit of mankind."

THROGS ATTEND OPENING SUNDAY OF BETTER HOMES

Formal Dedication Ceremonies Conducted and Keys Are Then Presented To Mayor Sims.

Thousands of home lovers attended
the dedication services of Atlanta's
better homes Sunday, and afterward
inspected the residences themselves
which were formally opened for the week of May 10-17.

Mrs. Thomas T. Stevens, president of the city Federation of Women's Clubs, who was in charge of dedication ceremonies at Better Home No.
1, 844 Forrest road, corner of Barnett street, was responsible for a beautiful program, which started with community singing of patriotic anthems by Miss Helen Knox Spain.
The invocation was given by Rev.
Mr. Tyler.

Keys of House Presented.
Mrs. Newton C. Wing, general
chairman of the Atlanta campaign,
gave a brief outline of the purpose of the Better Homes in America movement, and presented Mayor Sims
with the key of Better Home No. 1
in token of its dedication by the committee to all Atlanta. Mayor Sims, in his acceptance, pledged the appreciation and cooperation of the city.
Byron Warner's beautiful tenor voice
in the song "Mother of Mine," was followed by community singing, after which the door was opened by the mayor, and the visitors were welcomed by the "house mother," Mrs.
Alfred Newell, deputy commissioner of the Girl Scouts, who will be assisted by Atlanta Girl Scouts.

The visitors found that the beautiful little white colonial home, which had looked so attractive without, fulfilled
every dream of the home lover when viewed within. Opening from a hallway, spacious for the size of the house,

BAPTISTS GATHER FOR CONVENTION

Home Mission Board at Atlanta May Be Rele-
gated to Various State
Mission Boards.

Memphis, Tenn., May 10.—Members
of the Southern Baptist church today
were beginning to flock into Memphis
for the annual meeting of the southern Baptist convention. Many of the visitors, expected to total around 10-000 before the week is over, arrived
today and others will arrive tomorrow.

The woman's missionary union holds its opening session Tuesday night to continue through Thursday, when it will report to the convention.

Looming large on the horizon of the convention proper is the consideration of the question of a change in representation in the body. At present
the convention is made up of messengers chosen on the basis of one
for each $250 actually paid into the support of the organization by Baptist bodies. It is claimed that this basis has caused the convention to become unwieldy. Dr. E. Y. Mullins, of Louisville, Ky., will make a report of consideration of the matter
by a committee appointed for that purpose.

A number of radical changes in the denomination's various boards
and committees employing salaries of fees are expected to be proposed.
Leaders say there has been a growing feeling that the work of the home mission board, located in Atlanta, Ga.,
should be relegated to the various state mission boards and some of the larger organizations be abolished.
Leaders who have already reached the city declare that no opposition to the reelection of Dr. George W. Mc-Daniel, of Richmond, Va., as president of the convention, has developed.
They say that none is anticipated, if Dr. McDaniel signifies that he will serve for another term.

THREE DAUGHTERS MARRIED BY JUDGE IN TRIPLE WEDDING

Huntsville, Ala., May 10.—A series
of three weddings deprived the White family of Gurley, of three daughters Saturday when Miss Tommie White, 24, became the bride of John H. Gurly, Miss Josie White, 21, became the bride of Fate Miller, and Miss Janie White was wedded to Alvey Woods.

The three couples obtained their licenses together and were married a couple at a time by Probate Judge Thomas W. Jones, who is thinking of claiming the world's record in marrying the most daughters of one family in one day. The brides and bridegrooms were all reared in the same neighborhood.

"This will about break up all your father's family, won't it?" a witness of the triple wedding asked. "There are four more unmarried daughters at home," one of the brides replied.

DAVIS AND LOWDEN ENDORSE COIN SALE

Declared Sunday.

COIN CERTIFICATES GO ON SALE TODAY

Every Atlantan who wishes to purchase Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial Half-Dollars will have an opportunity to do so to-
day. Certificates good for coins on July 3 will go on sale in all Atlanta banks.

Each certificate will cost one dollar and each will be good for one coin. Atlantans may buy as many as wanted and on the morning of July 3, when the coin delivery starts throughout the country,
obtain the coins from the banks
where certificates were purchased.

There is every indication that the public demand will exceed the supply, the management states,
and all Atlantans are urged to buy at once.

Ringling indentments by John W.
Davis and Frank O. Lowden of the campaign for the sale of Confederate memorial half-dollars as a means of raising funds for the Stone Mountain rearing were made public here Sunday by Robert F. Maddox, chairman of the south-wide committee of prominent bankers sponsoring the campaign.

John W. Davis was the democratic presidential nominee in 1924 and previously was American ambassador to Great Britain. He is one of the

$7,500 Policy Is Offered Constitution's Subscribers

Sensational New Opportunity Given Atlantans
for Protection in Case of Accidents.

Inaugurating a new and sensational departure in its subscriber service, The Constitution today offers its subscribers a $7,500 travel accident insurance policy, without any increase in the cost to the policy holders.

In other words, a new $7,500 travel
accident policy of insurance heretofore offered its subscribers by The Constitution, the new and more liberal policy costing the same as did the old $5,000 policy—$1 a year in addition to the regular subscription rates of the Daily and Sunday Constitution. The new policy, as was the case with the old, will be issued by the North American Accident Insurance company, of Chicago, an old-line company, dealing exclusively in accident
insurance, which has already paid
more than $22,000 to policy holders of

CIRCUS WILL GIVE SHOW TUESDAY

The downpour Sunday afternoon,
which entailed the program of
The Constitution's air circus at Tuggle field, has forced several changes, among them the addition of another day—Tuesday—to the Atlanta engagement.

The plane-changing stunt by Diavolo Krantz, which was to have been given Sunday, is now scheduled for this afternoon, and on Tuesday afternoon he will present his daring breakaway stunts. Performances each afternoon start at 2:30 o'clock.

At noon each day three planes
will fly over the city and will drop 25 copies of The Constitution, containing five passes for free air
rides. The papers will be dropped over Marietta street at noon today.

BY DICK HAWKINS.

While nearly 15,000 persons watched with mouths agape as the "devil-
may-care" pilots of The Constitution
Flying circus at Tuggle field Sunday
did thrilling stunts after thrilling
stunts, Jupiter Pluvius, the rain pilot,
let loose a miniature flood, forcing a postponement of the plane-changing feat of Diavolo Krantz from Sunday afternoon until Monday afternoon.

The crowd did not lack for thrills,
however, what with the antics of Big Jack Ashcraft and Clyde Pangborn, who executed everything from "short turns to encores."

And such a crowd—they came by auto and they came on foot by the hundreds and the thousands. The road
for nearly two miles in both directions was jammed with cars. Little cars,
big cars, push cars and handcars coming to the field—or as near to the field as they could get—in a cloud of dust and leaving after the "cloudburst" over muddy roads.

As the thousands milled around endeavoring to catch a sight of the field where the planes were warming
up, no one seemed to be going any place in particular. But when one of the great accidents of the air zoomed from its resting place and the pilot "gave 'er the gun"

Eulogies Paid to Mother THOUSANDS ATTEND FEDERAL PRISON SERVICES In Many Atlanta Pulpits

Eulogies to mother were paid Sunday from every platform and pulpit
as Atlanta's part in the annual celebration of Mother's day, while a profusion of red and white carnations
was in evidence.

Behind the walls of the federal penitentiary the most successful observation of Mother's day was enjoyed—2,500 prisoners crowding the chapel for the services. Services were sponsored by the First Christian church, under direction of Charles N.
Walker, general chairman.

Dr. Menninger Preaches.
Rev. W. W. Menninger, rector of All Saints' Episcopal church, delivered the Mother's day sermon at the penitentiary. He was introduced by Mr. Walker, following the opening prayer by T. F. Hemminger. Mr.
Walker was introduced by Captain
J. V. Sewell, of the penitentiary.
Several musical selections were rendered by the choir from All Saints.

Special services also were held at police station and Fulton representing the Home for Incurables, with
C. F. Echnan, chairman.

The Epworth Methodist church
sponsored services at the Home for Incurables, the Old Ladies' home and Base Hospital No. 48. The workers' class, with Miss Gladys Lindsey as chairman, had charge of services at the Home for Incurables. The Epworth league, with Miss Christine Millwood as chairman, was in charge of services at the Old Ladies' home.

The Needlecraft class, of which Mrs.
R. J. Suber is chairman, superintended the program at Base Hospital
No. 48.

The Salvation Army arranged and had charge of the program at the stockade.

Georgia Children's Home.
Celebration and services at the Georgia Children's home were under supervision of the Masonic Club of Atlanta, with Count Boyer and Joe
Reed in charge.

Epworth League of Grace Methodist Church was in charge of services at Grady hospital, with Edwin Fincher as chairman, and with the Junior Missionary society of the church, of which Miss Ruby Austin
is chairman, looking after the children's ward.

The Y. M. C. A. celebrated with a Mother's day breakfast Sunday morning at Grady hospital, with nearly every state in the union, with one
from Canada and one from Wales,
were in attendance. An elaborate program addressed by Mrs. Alonzo Richardson and Dr. R. L.
Dement.

Mother's day was celebrated by hospitals and kindergartens throughout the city with flowers, candy, telegrams,
letters and every other conceivable expression.

DERRICK ANCHORED OVER SUNKEN SHIP

Norman Sank in Probably Worst Stretch of Water Between Memphis and Helena, Ark.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Memphis, Tenn., May 10.—Prevented by the strong undertow from sending divers down 50 feet to the wreck of the steamer Norman, which sank in the Mississippi river late Friday with a loss of 23 lives, Friday States engineers tonight had partially wrecked the hull of the vessel in the hope of releasing bodies trapped
there.

Work of demolishing the wrecked
steamer was suspended late tonight
until 4:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.
At 11 o'clock tonight the cabin of the Norman had been definitely located.
It is here the engineers believe a number of victims were trapped. Using a heavy anchor as a hammer, this cabin
will be broken up at dawn. Government boats not actually needed on the scene will be scattered at intervals
down the river in order that bodies
released will be found.

No Bodies Recovered.

No additional bodies had been recovered late tonight, and government
boats plying on both sides of the river, 18 miles below Memphis, were pulling overhanging branches and submerged
trees from the water in search for the score of victims who remain in the water. The search is continuing along the river as far south as Helena, Ark.

Evidence that the engineers, in charge of Major D. H. Connolly, were succeeding in breaking up the wreck
of the sunken steamer was found in bits of wreckage which came to the surface, including two flagstaves, an American flag, one canoe and a clock.

Divers Disposed With.
Use of divers, including one with 18 years' experience, was abandoned
only after repeated efforts to send them down. First, a 600 pound weight was attached to a line and dropped
over the side of a dredge boat. Divers attempted to descend down the line.
After going about 15 feet, they were unable to cling longer to the line because of the strong undercurrent, and were carried downstream about 50 feet
before pulled in.

Colonel C. L. Potter, of St. Louis,
president of the Mississippi river commission, joined the workers at the scene of the wreck today.

United States engineers in charge of the work are doing everything in their power to recover the bodies, it was said. Major D. H. Connolly, in charge of the engineer corps, first
here, and who was on the ill-fated craft, has been at the scene virtually all of the time. He returned to Memphis last night for a few hours' rest
and returned at 8 o'clock this morning.

Probability that bodies may be discovered many miles down the river,
perhaps as far as Helena, Ark., was expressed by river men. Others, however, pointed out that there was a big eddy a short distance from the scene of the sinking and that it was probable that some of the bodies were in this place.

Current Is Swift.
The Norman sank in probably the worst stretch of water between Memphis and Helena, Ark. The current at this point runs at the rate of about nine miles an hour and the banks of the stream are high and composed mostly of sand. The swiftest part of the current is near the east bank of the river.

No Bodies Recovered.

The bodies of the two men who were killed in the crash of the "breakaway stunt" will be recovered on Tuesday afternoon instead of Monday as scheduled in the beginning.

The breakaway feature is among the most daring ever attempted by a stunt diver. It consists of dropping from the wing of a plane at the end of a rope and climbing back up the rope to the plane and back onto the wing. Diavolo says of this stunt, late today reports from the scene say that no bodies had been recovered and that the work primarily the attempt to raise the wreck. The boat located yesterday in a barge, lies approximately 300 south and an equal distance from shore the spot where the survivors sat the capsized.

Today belief was expressed that not less than five bodies would be found and that the work would continue. Based on the recent change in the weather, opinion of observers who have been on the scene since Friday is that strong current has carried bodies from the spot where they probably will not be removed.

Another spectacular stunt which will be participated in by all three pilots on Tuesday is the "balloon straining" contest, which calls for skillful piloting. In this stunt, seven balloons, each with gas, are released from the ground and the three pilots take the air in an endeavor to see which can break the balloons first. The contest will be watching them in the propeller work.

Dog Offers Diversion.

Watching the crowd at the field Sunday with more or less suspicious eyes was Judge of Castilla, prize-winning police dog belonging to Ivan Gates and Clyde Pangborn, co-owners of the flying circus. Judge acted the part of a placid, obedient animal at times in the big automobile of his master and while he was being photographed in the plane but he was in a strange mood apparently when the crowd. Judge was on the ground—or more correctly, on the dog—in about three leaps and while the crowd was still in the mood to forget the plane crash, he was administered a severe chastisement to the intruder. The scrapers were separated by Diavalo Krantz before any serious damage was done.

Coolidge Is Determined To Include Army in Plan For Education in Aviation

Proposed Extension in Air Program Seen as Move to Theories Advocated by Col. Mitchell.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES.
Washington, May 10.—President Coolidge is determined to include the army in the program of education in aviation, which was begun recently by establishing a course at Annapolis for the midshipmen, indicating the general trend here toward the theories of Colonel "Billy" Mitchell, who was demoted for his ideas.

Coolidge believes that the coming leaders of the army should have more extensive training in aviation, and thinks that it can be done at West Point, it was made known at the White House Friday. For this purpose, he has ordered a careful investigation of the schedule at the military academy in order to see if additional instruction in aviation can be supplied. It may be that other courses will have to be cut out or curtailed in order to comply with the president's wishes.

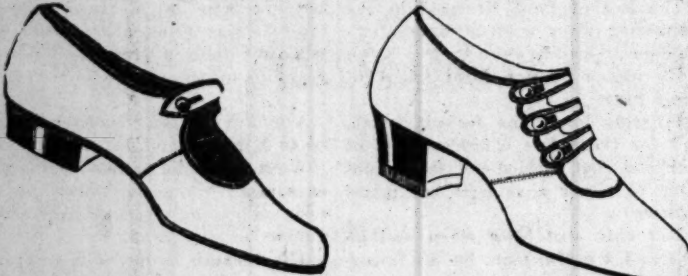

Investigation Ordered.
Students at West Point, who now receive only incidental instruction in aviation, are not getting as much as is desirable, the president's spokesman said Friday in commenting on the investigation ordered.

This planned extension of education in aviation is regarded in some quarters here as pointing toward a

Other recommendations include: Extension of the coastwise laws to the Philippines, when the president deems it expedient; exemption of coast trade from Panama canal tolls; freedom of ships to transfer to foreign registry, except in national emergencies; reduction in Panama canal tolls, extension of the present construction loan fund with the stipulation that vessels so benefited must remain in foreign trade until loans are repaid.

The government is asked to relinquish to privately-owned American ships the cargoes of supplies and troops in time of peace and to convey all government officials and employees and all government cargoes in such vessels.

still broader program, which will carry flying units into the colleges of the country which now have other forms of military training.

This recommendation was contained in the report of the special committee which investigated aircraft during the last session of congress and before which Mitchell aired the theories which caused such a flare-back from navy advocates here.

Need Ground Officers.

It was pointed out that every college campus is a splendid landing field and that in the event of future commercial aviation on a large scale, such landing fields could be utilized.

It was also explained that the need now is not so much for pilots, who could fly a plane during a war emergency, but for ground workers, mechanics of various kinds, for whom there would be a greater demand in case of a war in which reserves would be called out. The colleges would vote special attention to training these technical workers, for which most of them already are fitted.

As the science of warfare has advanced, the colleges which have military training have kept step, establishing units in almost every branch. Aviation, however, has been neglected, for obvious reasons. It would require a more elaborate outfit, and cost money. This was the argument for ground through appropriations from congress.

Demand for Pilots.

With the advent of commercial aviation, which is not far off, there will be a demand for pilots and mechanics. The colleges can supply these. They will provide at the same time a reserve force, which could be called on in a war emergency.

Mitchell has described the requirements of aviation instruction at Annapolis as an effort to stop agitation for a unified air force, which he advocates. The broadening of the program, as indicated by the effort to make aviation instruction a requirement at West Point, however, rather indicates that the administration is falling in line.

SHIP OWNERS SUBMIT PLAN FOR FLEET SALE

New York, May 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—Recommendations to make possible the sale of the government-owned fleet and its successful operation by American companies, laid before President Coolidge by the American Steamship Owners' association, the Ship Owners' Association of the Pacific, and the Pacific-American Steamship company were made public today. They urge the creation of two special agencies to determine the extent of service to be carried on and the amount of direct national aid through mail and other compensation.

Included in these organizations are almost all the owners of ocean-going tonnage under the American flag.

The program favors also reduction of the shipping board from seven members to three and continuance in some form of the fleet corporation under the control of the secretary of commerce, or a secretary of marine, to supervise operation of the essential steamship services pending liquidation.

Other recommendations include: Extension of the coastwise laws to the Philippines, when the president deems it expedient; exemption of coast trade from Panama canal tolls; freedom of ships to transfer to foreign registry, except in national emergencies; reduction in Panama canal tolls, extension of the present construction loan fund with the stipulation that vessels so benefited must remain in foreign trade until loans are repaid.

The government is asked to relinquish to privately-owned American ships the cargoes of supplies and troops in time of peace and to convey all government officials and employees and all government cargoes in such vessels.

BOY, 14, REVEALS MAN'S PART IN POISON DEATHS

Medina, Ohio, May 10.—Information indicating that a Cleveland man conspired with Mrs. Martha Wise, who confessed to administering poison which caused the deaths of her mother, Mrs. Sophie Hasel, 72, and an uncle and aunt, and Mrs. Fred Gienk, Sr., was revealed today. Mrs. Wise is on trial charged with first-degree murder.

Declaring he could not "keep quiet any longer," Lester Wise, 14, one of Mrs. Wise's four children, told a relative that last November he heard the man and his mother "mention poison" and later heard something about "the best way to do it," the relative informed Prosecutor J. A. Seymour today.

An investigation will be begun at once, Prosecutor Seymour said. The revelations will not affect Mrs. Wise's trial, he said. Her case is expected to go to the jury Wednesday.

SERIES OF TALKS ON CARE OF CHILD WILL BEGIN TODAY

Mrs. J. C. Malone, president of the pre-school circles of the Parent-Teacher association, will open a series of lectures 8:30 o'clock today on the care of the child. The meeting will be held at the M. Rich & Brothers company's tea room. Her subject will be "Children—Our Most Valued Asset."

Dr. W. L. Funkhauser will talk on "Preventive Medicine for Infants," and Mrs. Potter Spiker will speak on the subject of "Physical Education in the Artistic Life of a Child," illustrating her talk with an English May dance by a group of her pupils.

This is the first of a series of meetings to be held at the tea room at 3:30 o'clock every afternoon this week. They are a part of National Baby and Child Week being observed in Atlanta, and posters emphasizing lessons in health will be exhibited.

The program has been arranged for the purpose of centering interest in the child, looking to a further reduction in infant mortality. There will be no admission charge for the lectures and all Atlanta people interested in welfare of the child, have been invited.

Constitution To Entertain Mothers of Atlanta Today

BIG PARTY WILL BE STAGED AT HOWARD THEATER

Today will mark the inauguration of one of the greatest entertainment programs ever offered in Atlanta at the Howard theater, where The Constitution in cooperation with the Howard management will give a special performance for the mothers of Atlanta more than 40 years old in observance of "Mothers' Day."

The show will be given promptly at 9:30 o'clock and will include an imposing array of attractions ranging from a spectacular prologue to the presentation of a screening of a feature picture, "Charley's Aunt."

The beautiful prologue will be based on the master painting of Whistler, entitled "Mother," which will be shown with wonderful coloring and lighting effects. The Kipling poem, "Mother O' Mine," will be flashed on the screen and the popular song, "Little Mother O' Mine," will be sung by Charles Wynne, popular Atlanta tenor.

A lighter touch to the program will be presented by the Old Home Town String band, which features Mr. McMichen, the champion fiddler.

"Charley's Aunt" is based on the farce in Charleston which amused two generations of people on two continents. Manager Howard Kingsmore, who has seen both the stage and the screen and the popular song, "Little Mother O' Mine," will be sung by Charles Wynne, popular Atlanta tenor.

"Charley's Aunt" will always rank as one of the funniest of younger people screen, and we are glad that we have for whom the show is not given.

POISON PEN TRIAL TO OPEN TUESDAY

Charleston, S. C., May 10.—The case against Mrs. Eugene O. Ingram, wife of a Columbia traveling salesman, is expected to come to its third trial at the term of federal court that opens in Charleston tomorrow.

Mrs. Ingram was charged with violating the federal laws through the sending of alleged obscene letters through the mails at various intervals prior to the trial in Columbia of Miss Margaret McGregor, the daughter of a leading druggist of the city, to Thomas Boyle, a young business man of Sumter, during December, 1922.

Letters of a defamatory character are said to have been received by the bride couple and their friends, as well as by the Rev. Henry D. Phillips, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, of Columbia, who performed the ceremony.

Both the first trial of the case in Florence and the second in Columbia resulted in a verdict of acquittal for the defendant.

The trial in Florence was held there instead of in the capital city, due to public sentiment which, it was claimed, was prejudicial to the defendant.

During the second trial, United States Attorney J. D. E. Meyer introduced as witnesses handwriting experts connected with the treasury department in Washington, who testified that the handwriting in the alleged "poison pen" letters received by members of the bridal party corresponded with specimens of handwriting obtained from the defendant.

The defense consisted of testimony of one handwriting expert and other witnesses which tended to prove the dissimilarity of the defendant's handwriting to that in the letters in question, and other facts of a nature to clear the defendant of the charge.

After three full days in which the trial continued, the jury remained out of the courtroom overnight and failed to return a verdict. Judge Ernest F. Cochran, presiding, then dismissed the jury.

FIVE ARE INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Five persons, including an 18-month-old baby, were badly bruised about 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, when the car in which they were riding struck a fire plug on the curb at the corner of Piedmont avenue and Harris street.

The injured are: Mr. and Mrs. H. Schmid and infant son, Bob; Mrs. F. Schmid, mother of H. Schmid; and Policeman Leon Boyce, of 125 Gordon street. The Schmid family live at 942 Highland avenue.

According to Officer Boyce, he was driving the car in which the entire party was riding, going west on Harris street. At the intersection of Piedmont avenue and Harris street, an automobile, driven by an unidentified white man, approached at a rapid rate of speed, causing Boyce to drive his car into the curb, striking the water plug. The car was badly damaged.

H. Schmid was the only occupant of the car whose injuries necessitated treatment at Grady hospital, after which he was allowed to go home. The other victims were treated by the family physician.

Feel Blue?
Intestinal congestion
may be to blame

MEDICAL science today looks for physical causes when a patient is constantly troubled with depression.

It has been established that chronic constipation has a great deal to do with that distressing condition most of us describe as "feeling blue."

Certainly, there can be no harm in thoroughly flushing the intestines of disturbing accumulations, when something of this sort is the matter. And, of course, the safe, effective physic to take is Pluto Water.

Unlike slow, uncertain, over-night cathartics, Pluto Water acts promptly—in 30 minutes to two hours. A cleansing internal bath, its result is to make a person feel better all over—more interested in life and living. The poisons that cause depression are eliminated from the system.

Pluto Water is prescribed by physicians, sold by druggists and bottled at French Lick Springs, Indiana.

NEW METHOD HEALS RUPTURE

Kansas City Doctor's Discovery Makes Truss or Operation Unnecessary.

Kansas City, Mo.—(Special.)—A new discovery which, experts agree, has no equal for curative effects in all rupture cases, is the latest accomplishment of Dr. Andrews, the well known Hernia specialist of this city. The extraordinary success of this new method proves that it holds and heals a rupture. It weighs only a few ounces. Has no hard gouging pads, no elastic belt, no leg straps, no steel bands, and is as comfortable as a light garment. It has enabled hundreds of persons to throw away trusses and declare their rupture absolutely healed. Many of these had serious double rupture, from which they had suffered for years. It is Dr. Andrews' ambition to have every ruptured person enjoy the quick relief, comfort and healing power of his discovery, and he will send it on free trial to any reader of The Constitution who writes him at his office, 1221 Koch Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. He wants one person in each neighborhood who he can refer. If you wish to be rid of rupture for good, without an operation, take advantage of the doctor's free offer. Write him today.—(adv.)

who are forced to admit failure in the film capital every year?
These questions were put to the Chamber of Commerce here by church and civic organizations alarmed at the constantly increasing invasion of the film city by penniless girls.

Do these girls return home after their bitter disillusionment? Officers of the chamber say they do not, and to prove it they show hundreds of letters received weekly from anxious parents concerning their daughters.

To help in the solution of this growing problem, Gladys Brockwell, screen actress, has volunteered the chamber some valuable information. Gladys says the majority of these girls become waitresses and domestic servants at an average salary of $15 a week.

The average "extra" girl, according to Miss Brockwell, "sticks to the game for at least a year. All this time she is sending her parents glowing reports of success when in reality she is almost starved."

"At the end of the year or so when she realizes it is a hopeless game for her to buck because of competition or debts in appearance, the girl gives up."

"Her natural impulse is to go home, but she realizes that to do so would brand her as a failure and rather than endure the shame of acquaintances back home, the disappointed girl packs her few belongings and seeks work at anything."

"After a few days of seeking employment, the little 'extra' girl turns to the only haven—the lunch rooms and restaurants of the city, where she is placed in the dining room or kitchen according to the needs of the establishment."

Working on this information, the chamber of commerce made an investigation of restaurants and employment agencies within a radius of 100 miles of the city.

It was found that 70 per cent of the waitresses employed in the establishments visited were out-of-town girls who once had movie aspirations. Many of these still hoped to play the "game" once more.

To this end they were saving their pennies out of an average salary—including tips—$15 weekly.

Hollywood, perhaps, is the only community in the world which advertises the hopelessness of seeking work there. Thousands of dollars are being spent annually by the Chamber of Commerce in national advertising advising young men and women with film aspirations to stay away.

This propaganda has merely served to increase the steady stream of girls and boys to the film capital.

NEW ZEALAND PREMIER IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Wellington, New Zealand, May 10. (By The Associated Press.)—William Ferguson Massey, premier of New Zealand, died today.

Mr. Massey was the last of the war-time premiers. He became head of the dominion government in 1912, and despite war and post-war changes, which one by one threw the older leaders out of power, his position remained secure. He was a fervent imperialist. The premier was born in 1858 in the village of Limavady, near Londonderry, Ireland, where, as he often proudly said, his ancestors were tillers of the soil for centuries.

He emigrated to New Zealand when he was 14 years old and followed the occupation of a farmer. It was as a farmer that he was elected to the dominion house of representatives in 1894. Throughout his political career he maintained profound interest in his early work.

A big, bluff, hearty man, Mr. Massey was ardently conservative and anti-socialist. He made few enemies, and among his bitterest political foes personal friends. He was a great admirer of President Coolidge, whom he met in Washington in 1923. On the desk in Mr. Massey's study in Wellington was a framed photograph of Mr. Coolidge making hay on a New England farm. Mr. Massey also was an admirer of Abraham Lincoln.

SMITH & RANKIN PRIZE-WINNERS OF DEBT PARLEYS

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Washington, May 10.—In the face of denials in official quarters, both in Washington and Paris, that there has been a renewal of formal correspondence between the two capitals in the question of debt settlement, the impression persisted here tonight that a re-arrangement of the intermittent and informal conversations on the subject has been brought about.

Secretary Kellogg was still out of the city and in his absence state department officials would not go beyond the flat denial made yesterday that any note with reference to debt settlement had been dispatched to Paris. The denial still leaves open, however, the possibility that Ambassador Herrick may have received further instructions to press for the initiation of definite negotiations for a refunding agreement, and that some form of suggestion as to the basis for such an agreement which might be satisfactory to the Washington government had been included.

The impression that the preliminary discussions looking to a refunding agreement with France had been revived, rested to some extent upon the optimistic view as to the French financial situation taken up under Secretary Winston of the treasury, after his recent visit to the French capital.

PARIS IS IGNORANT OF DEBT NEGOTIATIONS.

Paris, May 10.—The French foreign office this evening expressed complete ignorance regarding any debt note which it was reported from Washington the American government had forwarded to Mr. T. Herrick, American ambassador for transmission to the French government.

As a resumption of negotiations at Paris regarding a settlement of the French debt to the United States would cause no surprise. It is said this would be the logical outcome of the conversations Mr. Daeschner, the French ambassador, has been having on the question since he took up his post in Washington.

The French say they will welcome any suggestions emanating from Washington on the debt question should Mr. Herrick bring that matter up. There is a feeling that the conversations between Mr. Daeschner and the American government have reached the stage where the French government must be consulted and some basic starting point for negotiations and a final settlement agreed upon.

Mr. Herrick has been absent from Paris since Wednesday. He will return tomorrow.

FIRE DAMAGES SHIP OFF FLORIDA COAST

Jacksonville, Fla., May 10.—The Clyde line steamer Mohican is anchored off Cape Canaveral, 130 miles south of here with a fire in her afterhold, H. G. White, Clyde line agent, was advised tonight by radio. Officers went to the scene and are fighting the fire with steam.

News that the vessel was burning was received here by radio late today, direct from the ship. The three Friends was sent from Jacksonville late today to assist the Mohican.

Before the radio station closed here tonight, Mr. White learned that the Tulsa, a tanker, was standing by the Mohican, and that the Eagle Nine, a government boat, was rushing to the Mohican's aid. Several other vessels are in the vicinity, Mr. White said, and there is no danger of casualties. There were no casualties and at the time of the last radio report tonight the fire was believed under control.

75,500,000 MARKS PAID BY GERMANY IN APRIL ALONE

Berlin, May 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—Germany's payments to the reparations account, made through the agent-general for reparations during April, amounted to 75,500,000 marks. Of this amount, Great Britain received 25,500,000 marks, of which 16,500,000 marks were credited to payments under the recovery act. France's share of the April payments was 33,000,000.

FRANCE HAS RECEIVED 267,697,382 GOLD MARKS.

Paris, May 10.—The report of Seymour Parker Gilbert, agent-general for reparations, show that France's share in the Decree plan receipts amounted to 267,697,382 gold marks from September 1, 1924, the date the plan became operative, up to May 1, 1925.

The total German payments for the eight months are given as 640,010,000 gold marks.

BONUS IS OPPOSED BY SEAMEN'S HEAD

Washington, May 10.—American seamen have "no toleration for the idea that they be made tipsters," Mr. Andrew Furuseth, president of the International Seamen's Union of America, declared in a letter today to President Coolidge, opposing the proposal of Chairman O'Connor of the shipping board, for payment of a bonus to American seamen out of the treasury.

"Wages paid American seamen are now actually not more than 2 per cent above the foreign scales," Mr. Furuseth said, and he contended this differential would not exist if the seamen's act "had been enforced." Although American flagships operate under a serious adverse cost differential as compared with foreign ships, he said, this was largely due to inefficiency and the expense of repairs not made by the ship's own crew.

MUSIC WEEK AT ROME WAS DECIDED SUCCESS

Rome, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—A concert by the Lindale band at the municipal auditorium, under the direction of Paul Nixon, brought music week in Rome to a successful close. The band has been an outstanding feature of music week here. A feature of the band program was "The Wreck of the Ninety-Seven," an old band piece revised by Mr. Nixon. Selections from "Carmen," were very spectacular, and the overture to "Poet and Peasant" was another feature of the program. "Comin' Through the Rye" was both clever and humorous. The entire program was declared by critics to be one of the best performances ever given by the Lindale band.

The Rome Symphony orchestra, also directed by Mr. Nixon, was another enjoyable feature of music week, as was the Potter-Spiker dances of Atlanta, and the concert by the Junior Music Lovers' club.

POLICE HALT DISORDER ON JOAN OF ARC DAY

Paris, May 10.—The most imposing police force mobilized in Paris since May day, 1919, and the great effort they displayed in suppressing incipient disorders, were responsible for the free day of celebration today remaining free from bloodshed which was feared in official quarters. Several clashes between manifestos and the police occurred, but no one was severely injured.

Fifty thousand persons filed past the statues of France's national saint on the Place de St. Augustine and the Rue Rivoli while about five thousand police patrolled the streets between those points.

The nationalist papers bitterly assailed the police for what they called rough work and unnecessary violence. Joan of Arc day, although a national festival since 1920, remains essentially a day of royalists and Catholics, and the Patriots' league, headed by General de Castelnau, organized and staged today's big demonstration. Throughout France the day is a religious holiday.

$5,000,000 EACH DAY SPENT ON COSMETICS

Chicago, May 10.—American women are spending as much money for beauty culture now as men ever spent in saloons, according to Charles Nestle, of New York, beauty specialist. "More than 30,000,000 women over 21 years of age in this country, spent $5,000,000 per day for cosmetics," said Nestle. The annual consumption of rouge alone amounted to 17,856,000 boxes last year, while other beauty products sold in face powder, hand cream, and face powder are handled across the counters at the rate of $5,047,000 and 240,992,000 packages a year, respectively. More than $15,000,000 is spent annually for permanent waves, while $1,500,000 is spent for hair dye.

GOVERNOR ORDERS SEVERITY OF WEATHER CAUSES POLE FLIGHT TO BE DELAYED

Jackson, Miss., May 10.—Disclaiming all responsibility for the antitrust suit filed by State Revenue Agent A. J. Miller, in which the state seeks to impose $12,000,000 penalties against the Ford Motor company, Governor H. L. Whitfield tonight called upon Mr. Miller to bring about dismissal of the suit "out of regard to Mississippi's position in the eyes of the world."

The governor's statement, after declaring that the revenue agent had not consulted with him before filing the suit, contends that "the filing of the suit is fraught with most unfortunate consequences for Mississippi."

GOVERNOR ORDERS SEVERITY OF WEATHER CAUSES POLE FLIGHT TO BE DELAYED

BY JAMES B. WHARTON.
(Special dispatch to The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance.)
Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, May 10.—The unabating severity of the arctic weather has forced Captain Roald Amundsen and Lincoln Ellsworth, leaders of the expedition that is attempting to reach the north pole in two flying boats, to abandon temporarily the undertaking.

The decision to postpone the flight, for which all preparation had been made, was announced today in the following joint statement, written exclusively for The Constitution by the two explorers:

"As winter is still in full possession here, with extreme cold and bad ice conditions, we have resolved to postpone the start of the polar flight to some later time in May or the beginning of June."

The arctic weather has beaten us in our first tilt against it. The Hobbs returned yesterday from the Danish island, plowing through the harbor ice with great difficulty. The farm is locked in the pack farther north and will not be able to come out until conditions improve.

The intense cold has given the mechanics an opportunity to experiment on extraordinary remedies to combat motor balkiness. Failure of the motors to turn, once the pole was reached and the party ready to fly back, would mean a tragic predicament. For this reason, even poor visibility is considered less dangerous than the cold. It seems reasonable to believe that these present arctic weather will end as suddenly as it came. It is wholly unreasonable.

LADY HOGG DIES; WAS FORMER NERVE OF TENNESSEE

London, May 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—Lady Hogg, wife of Sir Douglas Hogg, attorney general in the Baldwin cabinet, died suddenly today in her London residence. Sir Douglas was called upstairs by his son early today and found Lady Hogg complaining of a pain in her back. He immediately phoned for a doctor, but when he returned to the room his wife was unconscious and died without speak to him again.

Lady Hogg was Elizabeth Brown, daughter of Judge Trimble Brown, of Nashville, Tenn. She was twice married, her first husband having been the Honorable A. J. Majoribanks. She was married to Sir Douglas Hogg, then Douglas MacGregor Hogg, in 1905.

Paris, May 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—Returns from the second and last round of the municipal elections held today seem fully to justify the forecast of success for the left parties. With few exceptions, such as Nancy, where a nationalist council was elected, the left groups generally triumphed.

The changes in the Paris council were insignificant, the left winning three seats and losing one, the communists winning one seat and the right losing four, leaving the political composition of the new council practically identical with that of the old.

Question: Why does Buick use a one-piece front axle?

Answer: For safety and strength and care-free service. The Buick type is a one-piece, drop-forged I-Beam. There are no brazed or welded parts to break off. In case of accident it can be easily straightened without the necessity of replacement. You can depend on a Buick axle.

Courtland Street Firm Is Thomas A. Edison Spared No Winning Fame and Contracts Effort Developing Ediphone

Atlanta has in the American-European studios, of 455 Courtland street, one of the leading studios in this part of the country.

These studios are owned by Alfred W. Jones, an artist of rare ability, who having served his apprenticeship with the leading New York and Canadian firms, is especially fitted for this work.

Much beautiful and artistic work is done each month at this studio, and the fame of the American-European studios is spreading far and wide and large contracts are being received from distant cities.

Mr. Jones has built up a remarkable business in the past four years and has attained an enviable reputation as a designer and manufacturer of stained and leaded glass windows and other art glass work.

Some very artistic samples of the fine work designed and made by the American-European studios may be seen in the following churches: White Temple, Miami, Fla.; Methodist church, Greenville, S. C.; McFarland Memorial, Rossville, Ga.; Westminster Presbyterian, Grace Methodist and Rock Springs Presbyterian, Atlanta; Trinity Methodist, Chattanooga, Tenn.; First Baptist, Nashville, Tenn.; First Baptist, Petersburg, Fla.; First Baptist, St. George, Ga.; Synagogue, Ahahab Achim, Congregation, Atlanta; Methodist churches in Cullman, Ala., and Jackson, Ga.

Some beautiful windows may also be seen in the Chapel of the Theological seminary, Gammon's Theological seminary, Mount Olive Baptist, Second Baptist, Liberty Baptist and Ebenezer Baptist churches, all of Atlanta.

The American-European studios, however, do not confine themselves to just church work but do all kinds of art glass work.

The fine art glass work seen in the sufficient hotels such as the El Verano, West Palm Beach, Fla.; New Edwards, Jackson, Miss.; Henry Grady, Atlanta, and a score or more hotels was made and designed by this popular Courtland street firm.

As every piece of work done stands as a testimonial of their good work each job well done brings them new contracts and more work.

All those connected with the American-European studios are pleased with the increasing number of satisfied customers that they serve each month and they are proud of it. It is—they are new contracts from old customers.

Atlanta has in the American-European studios, of 455 Courtland street, one of the leading studios in this part of the country.

These studios are owned by Alfred W. Jones, an artist of rare ability, who having served his apprenticeship

with the leading New York and Canadian firms, is especially fitted for this work.

Much beautiful and artistic work is done each month at this studio, and the fame of the American-European studios is spreading far and wide and large contracts are being received from distant cities.

Mr. Jones has built up a remarkable business in the past four years and has attained an enviable reputation as a designer and manufacturer of stained and leaded glass windows and other art glass work.

Some very artistic samples of the fine work designed and made by the American-European studios may be seen in the following churches: White Temple, Miami, Fla.; Methodist church, Greenville, S. C.; McFarland Memorial, Rossville, Ga.; Westminster Presbyterian, Grace Methodist and Rock Springs Presbyterian, Atlanta; Trinity Methodist, Chattanooga, Tenn.; First Baptist, Nashville, Tenn.; First Baptist, Petersburg, Fla.; First Baptist, St. George, Ga.; Synagogue, Ahahab Achim, Congregation, Atlanta; Methodist churches in Cullman, Ala., and Jackson, Ga.

Some beautiful windows may also be seen in the Chapel of the Theological seminary, Gammon's Theological seminary, Mount Olive Baptist, Second Baptist, Liberty Baptist and Ebenezer Baptist churches, all of Atlanta.

The American-European studios, however, do not confine themselves to just church work but do all kinds of art glass work.

The fine art glass work seen in the sufficient hotels such as the El Verano, West Palm Beach, Fla.; New Edwards, Jackson, Miss.; Henry Grady, Atlanta, and a score or more hotels was made and designed by this popular Courtland street firm.

BE A BOOSTER FOR YOUR HOME TOWN IF YOU LIVE THERE

Be a booster for your own home town no matter where you live, for if you make your living there and expect to always stay there, whether it be in Atlanta or a small cross-roads village you can help more by boosting than by knocking and you ought to do more good than you do harm. There are many ways of doing this—one of the best is to get the automobiles, especially the ones that love to wander around the country (and you know that nearly every car owner does "hit the road" occasionally) to fasten a small, attractive town name plate on his car. Many plates have been put on the market, but none nearer than the small pennant-shaped ones handled by the Dixie Seal & Stamp company, 33 Poplar street, Atlanta. They can also supply you with the rectangular shaped ones if you prefer that shape. Both kinds have the letters embossed and come in any two colors desired. They are made in lots of 50 or more, and at very reasonable prices. Get a lot and try your hand at boosting.

This enterprising firm is always a little ahead of the times and has introduced some new and very useful appliances, markers and other serviceable objects every few months and is a credit to Atlanta and the south.

If we had more firms in Atlanta and Georgia like this one we would not be sending so much good Atlanta and Georgia money up so far in the north where it is gone beyond doing any more good in the south.

While this popular firm sees in these signs a good way to boost their fellow's own home town yet, as stated, there are a lot of mighty fine towns in Georgia which would be extra good places to live in if the home folk would waken to their own advantages and somehow or in some way tell the world that their town was the best and then wake up and make it the best.

BIG BOND COMPANY IN NEW QUARTERS

The remarkable growth of the big Atlanta bond and mortgage companies during the past few years speak very well for the foresight and judgment of their officials and the increasing value of Atlanta and vicinity real estate.

Take the big firm of Tilson & McKinnis, who have just moved from the Palmer to the Hurt building. This firm just had to move to get more room, as the consistent steady growth of their business year after year necessitated larger offices.

This firm is especially proud of the large number of real estate owners in Atlanta and Decatur that have given them the opportunity of serving them in the matter of real estate loans and the splendid cooperation the borrowers are giving them in the prompt payment of interest taxes and here in their home state, where they are known the best, they have several hundred.

This large clientele has been built up year after year by safeguarding the investor's interests and kind and courteous consideration for the borrowers at all times.

In their new quarters, 839 Hurt building, which is now the south's largest office building, there are now located, where they extend a very cordial invitation to all their old and new friends to come and see them.

This firm will for the most part recommend to their investors that Atlanta and good suburban sections is the ideal and safe place to invest money in and they believe that well placed loans here will always be safe as long as Atlanta grows.

Remedy Is Discovered For Blood Pressure, Medicos Are Told

MacDonald, of St. Catharines, Ont., speaking before the Ontario Medical Association, gave details of a new treatment for high blood pressure, stating that in the 33 clinics already treated, the pressure had been reduced. He said the treatment consisted of hypodermic injections of extract of the liver.

Bartow Mound Yields Many Indian Relics

Cartersville, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—Under the direction of Dr. Warren K. Moorehead, assisted by Gerald Towle, both noted archaeologists, excavation work is now in progress on the Tumlin mound, near Cartersville.

The party has discovered several graves, buried at depths of 10 to 15 feet, and in these graves were found a number of bones, beads and rare specimens of pottery and copper. Small pieces of lead, which are believed to have come from Missouri, and other minerals from points as far away as Mexico and Central America, have also been found. Great interest is being manifested in the excavations, and large numbers of people, some of them coming from a distance, go out daily to watch developments.

National Officers.
National officers expected to attend the convention include Mrs. Henry F. Baker, of Hyde, Md., president; Mrs. Robert Carlisle Morris, Toledo, Ohio, and Mrs. Max Mayer, Des Moines, Iowa, honorary presidents; Mrs. E. H. Vanstrand, Madison, Wis., first vice president; Mrs. P. J. Adams, Salt Lake City, second vice president; Mrs. J. H. Cooley, Grand Forks, N. D., recording secretary; Mrs. W. D. Curtis, Madison, Wis., treasurer; Mrs. Victor C. Vette, Salt Lake City, historian; Mrs. J. S. Auer, Dorchester, Pa., chaplain; Mrs. J. Barry Mahool, Baltimore, Md., chairman gold star division; Mrs. Bruce W. Maxwell, Indianapolis, executive secretary; and the regional directors, who are Mrs. William S. Irving, Boston; Mrs. Frank Knapp, Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. W. E. G. Saunders, Emmetsburg, Iowa; Mrs. Edna A. Bedy, Spokane, Wash.; and Mrs. Sam D. Jones, of Atlanta, through whom the legion was invited to meet in Atlanta.

The legion has the distinction of being the first patriotic organization brought to birth by the world war, having organized in 1917 as the War Mothers of America. This title was afterwards changed in convention at Baltimore when 12 organizations growing out of the world war came together and were accepted into the organization by the War Mothers. The name of Service Star Legion was then selected to cover the various groups and the five-pointed star as its symbol, the points representing sisterhood, education, relief, remembrance and vigilance. It is not auxiliary to any other body and defines its own policy. Mothers, grandmothers, sisters, daughters and sisters of those who saw war service, nurses who served in military hospitals at home or abroad, and young men who lost their lives in the world war were placed at Pershing Point by the Atlanta chapter and another memorial of flowers is a beautiful tribute to the memory of the state capital.

Silverware in Fish Net Furnishes Police Clue To Robbery of Home

Cannes, May 10.—An old fisherman working off the coast here was astonished last night when he pulled up his net to find it contained two silver spoons. They bore the initials "H. B. D." The police identified them as the property of Mrs. Hazel B. De Moss, an American woman spending the winter at Cannes. The spoons gave the first clue to a mysterious robbery some weeks when the villa occupied by Mrs. De Moss was ransacked. Among other articles taken was costly silverware. Divers were put to work at the spot and other silverware, including a silver plate, two more spoons, a cake plate and fork, a table fork and a pepper pot.

Barnett, which has just been filed in the office of Judge of Probate Frank M. Bryan. J. A. Weinberg, of Manning, is executor and trustee of the estate, which is estimated at about $160,000 in value. Many bequests are also made to relatives and friends.

State Forestry Association Will Convene in Waycross

Announcement was made Sunday that the annual meeting of the Georgia Forestry association will be held at Waycross on May 18.

Governor Walker and other state officials, industrial agents of various railroads, bankers and business men, together with prominent officials of the women's organizations and civic clubs, will be on the program of speakers.

The aim of the association is to make this a distinctive meeting of Georgia citizens, called to devise a state policy with a view of perpetuating the timber resources of Georgia. Following the business session and the program of addresses and important reports during the day, the night session will be largely devoted to the showing of the new forestry film which the association has recently produced by cooperation with the United States forest service, showing forest conditions in Georgia and other southern states. It is entitled the "Southern Pine Series," with three reels—"From a Seed to Sawmill," "Pines for Profit" and "The Dual Purpose Trees."

The Waycross section is the home of the slash pine, the most rapidly growing species of this tree family, and the immediate territory bordering on the Okefenokee swamp is described by government experts as having the greatest natural facilities for producing timber values in the whole world.

The Waycross Chamber of Commerce, the Lions' club and Kiwanis club will act as hosts for the meeting, and it is expected that large delegations from many Georgia cities will be present. All organizations, industries, institutions and citizens are urged to attend and take part in the discussions. Special arrangements will be made for a trip into the Okefenokee swamp for all who wish to remain over on the following day.

Unlike Any Story You Have Ever Read

The Lost World

BY SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

And now I turn to the last supreme moment of our adventure. As I was racking my brain as to how I should describe it, my eyes fell upon the issue of the 8th of November with the full and excellent account of my friend and fellow-reporter Macdonald. What I do better than transcribe his narrative—headlines and all? I admit that the paper was excellent in the matter, out of compliment to its own enterprise in sending a correspondent, but the other great dailies were hardly less full in their account. Thus, then, friend Mac in his report.

QUEEN'S HALL
SCENES OF UPRAR
EXTRAORDINARY INCIDENT
WHAT WAS IT?
NOCTURNAL RIOT IN REGENT
STREET (Special)

The much-discussed meeting of the Zoological institute convened to hear the report of the committee of investigation sent out last year to South America to test the assertions made by Professor Challenger as to the continued existence of prehistoric life upon that continent, was held last night in the greater Queen's hall, and it is safe to say that it is likely to be a red letter date in the history of science, for the proceedings were of so remarkable and sensational a character that no one present is ever likely to forget them. (Oh, brother scribe Macdonald, what a monstrous opening sentence!) "The tickets were theoretically confined to members and their friends, but the latter is an elastic term, and long before 5 o'clock, the hall was fixed for the commencement of the proceedings, all parts of the great hall were tightly packed. The general public, however, which most unreasonably entertained a grievance at having been excluded, stormed the doors at a quarter to eight, after a prolonged melee in which several people were injured, including Inspector Scoble, of H. division, whose leg was unfortunately broken. After this unwarrantable invasion, which not only filled every passage, but even crowded upon the space set apart for the press, it is estimated that nearly 5,000 people awaited the arrival of the travelers. When they eventually appeared, they took their places in front of a platform which already contained all the leading scientific men, not only of this country, but of France, Germany, Sweden and also represented, in the person of Professor Sergius, the famous zoologist of the University of Upsala.

"The entrance of the four heroes of the occasion was the signal for a remarkable demonstration of welcome, the whole audience rising and cheering for some minutes. An acute observer might, however, have detected some signs of dissent amid the applause, and gathered that the proceedings were likely to become more lively than harmonious. It may safely be prophesied, however, that no one could have foreseen the extraordinary turn which they were actually to take.

"Of the appearance of the four wanderers little need be said, since their photographs have for some time been appearing in all the papers. They bear few traces of the hardships which they are said to have undergone. Professor Challenger's beard may be more shaggy, Professor Summerlee's features more ascetic, Lord John Roxton's figure more gaunt, and all three may be turned to a darker tint than when they left our shores, but each appeared to be in most excellent health. As to our own representative, the well-known athlete and international Rugby football player, E. D. Malone, he looks maimed as a hero, and as he surveyed the crowd a smile of good-humored contentment pervaded his honest but homely face." (All right, Mac, wait till I get you all right.) "When quiet had been restored and the audience resumed their seats after the oration which they had given to the travelers, the chairman, the Duke of Durham, addressed the meeting. 'He would not,' he said, 'stand for more than a moment between that vast assembly and the treat which lay before them. It was not for him to anticipate what Professor Summerlee, who was the spokesman of the committee, had to say to them, but it was common ground upon which they had been crowned by extraordinary success.' (Applause.) 'Apparently the age of romance was not dead, and there was common ground upon which the wildest imaginings of the novelist could meet the actual scientific investigations of the searcher for truth. He would only—and all of them would rejoice—that these gentlemen had returned safe and sound from their difficult and arduous task, for it cannot be denied that any disaster to such an expedition would have inflicted a well-nigh irreparable loss to the cause of Zoological science.' (Great applause, in which Professor Challenger was observed to join.)

"Professor Summerlee's rising was the signal for another extraordinary outbreak of enthusiasm, which broke out again at intervals throughout his address. That address will not be given in extenso in these columns, for the reason that a full account of the whole adventures of the expedition is being published as a supplement from the pen of our own special correspondent. Some general indications will therefore suffice. Having described the genesis of their journey, and paid a handsome tribute to his friend, Professor Challenger, coupled with an apology for the incredulity with which his assertions, now fully vindicated, had been received, he gave the actual course of their journey, carefully withholding such information as would aid the public in any attempt to locate their remarkable plateau. Having described, in general terms, their course from the main river up to the time that they actually reached the base of the cliffs, he enthralled his hearers by his account of the difficulties encountered by the expedition in their repeated attempts to mount them, and finally described how they succeeded in their desperate endeavors, which cost the lives of their two devoted half-breed servants." (This amazing reading of the affair was the result of Summerlee's endeavor to avoid raising any questionable matter at the meeting.)

"Having conducted his audience in fancy to the summit, and reason of the fall of their bridge, the professor proceeded to describe both the horrors and the attractions of that remarkable land. Of personal adventures he said little, but laid stress upon the rich harvest repeated by science in the observation of the wonderful beast, bird, insect, and plant life of the plateau, peculiarly rich in the coleoptera and in the lepidoptera, forty-six new species of the order and ninety-four of the other had been secured in the course of a few weeks. It was, however, in the larger animals, and especially in the larger animals supposed to have been long extinct, that the interest of the public was naturally centered. Of these he was able to give a goodly list, but had little doubt that it would be largely extended when the place had been more thoroughly investigated. He and his companions had seen at least a dozen creatures, most of them at a distance, which corresponded with nothing at present known to science. These would in time be duly classified and examined. He instanced a snake, the cast skin of which, deep purple in color, was fifty-one feet in length, and mentioned a white creature, supposed to be mammalian, which gave forth well-marked phosphorescence in the darkness; also a large black moth, the bite of which was supposed by the Indians to be highly poisonous. Setting aside these entirely new forms of life, the plateau was very rich in known prehistoric forms, dating back in some cases to early Jurassic times. Among these he mentioned the gigantic and grotesque stegosaur, seen once by Mr. Malone at a drinking place by the lake and drawn in the sketch-book of that adventurous American who had first penetrated this unknown world. He described also the iguanodon and the pterodactyl—two of the first of the wonders which they had encountered. He then thrilled the assembly by some account of the terrible carnivorous dinosaurs, which had on more than one occasion pursued members of the party, and which were the most formidable of all the creatures which they had encountered. Thence he passed on to the huge and ferocious bird, the phororhynchus, and to the great still rooms upon this upland. It was not, however, until he touched upon the mysterious of the central lake that the full interest and enthusiasm of the audience were aroused. One had to pinch himself to be sure that one was awake as one heard this sane and practical professor in cold measured terms describing the monstrous three-eyed fish-lizards and the huge water-snakes which inhabit this enchanted sheet of water. Next he touched upon the Indians, and upon the extraordinary colony of anthropoid apes, which might be looked upon as an advance upon the pithecanthropus of Java, and as coming therefore nearer than any known form to that hypothetical creature, the missing link. Finally he described, amongst some meritment, the ingenious but highly dangerous aeronautic invention of Professor Challenger, and wound up a most memorable address by a review of the methods by which the committee did at last find their way back to civilization.

"It had been hoped that the proceedings would end there and that a vote of thanks and congratulations moved by Professor Sergius, of Upsala university, would be the end of the matter; but it was soon evident that the course of events was not destined to flow so smoothly. Symptoms of opposition had been evident from time to time during the evening, and now Dr. James Illingworth, of Edinburgh, rose in the center of the hall. Dr. Illingworth asked whether an amendment should not be taken before a resolution.

"The chairman: 'Yes, sir, if there must be an amendment.' "The chairman: 'Then let us take it at once.' "Professor Summerlee (springing to his feet): 'Might I explain, your Grace, that this man is my personal enemy ever since our controversy in the Quarterly Journal of Science as to the true nature of Bathynus?' "The chairman: 'I fear I cannot go into personal matters. Proceed.' "Dr. Illingworth was imperfectly heard in part of his remarks on account of the strenuous opposition of the friends of the explorers. Some attempts were also made to pull him down. Being a man of enormous physique, however, and possessed of a very powerful voice, he dominated the tumult and succeeded in finishing his speech. It was clear from the moment of his rising that he had a number of friends and sympathizers in the hall, though they formed a minority in the audience. The attitude of the greater part of the public might be described as one of attentive neutrality.

"Dr. Illingworth began his remarks by expressing his high appreciation of the scientific work both of Professor Challenger and of Professor Summerlee. He much regretted that any personal bias should have been read between his remarks, which were entirely directed by his desire for scientific truth. His position, in fact, was substantially the same as that taken by Professor Summerlee at the last meeting. At the meeting Professor Challenger had made certain assertions which had been queried by his colleague. Now this colleague came forward himself with the same assertions and expected them to remain unquestioned. Was this reasonable? 'Yes,' 'No,' and prolonged interruption, during which Professor Challenger was heard from the press box to ask leave from the chairman to put Dr. Illingworth into the stocks. A year ago one man said certain things. Now four men said other and more startling ones. Was this to constitute a final proof? Where was the question were of the most revolutionary and incredible character? There had been recent examples of travelers returning from the unknown with certain tales which had been too readily accepted. Was the London Zoological Institute to place itself in this position? He admitted that the members of the committee were men of character. But human nature was very complex. Even professors might be misled by the desire for notoriety. Like moths, we all love best to flutter in the light. Have-game shots liked to be in a position to cap the tales of their rivals, and journalists were not adverse to sensational coups, even when incitation had to aid feet in the process. Each member of the committee had his own motive for making the most of his results. (Shame! shame!) He had no desire to be offensive. ('You are!' and interruption.) The corroboration of these wonderful tales was really of the most slender description. What did amount to? Some photographs. Was it possible that in this age of ingenious manipulation photographs could be accepted as evidence? What more? We have a story of a flight and a descent by zones which precluded the production of larger specimens. It was ingenious, but not convincing. It was understood that Lord John Roxton claimed to have the skull of a phororhynchus. He could only say that he would like to see that skull. 'Lord John Roxton: 'Is this fellow calling me a liar?' (Tumult.) 'The chairman: 'Order, order. Dr. Illingworth: I must direct you to bring your remarks to a conclusion and to move your amendment.' "Dr. Illingworth: 'Your Grace, I have more to say, but I bow to your ruling. I move then, that while Professor Summerlee be thanked for his interesting address, the whole matter shall be regarded as "non-proven," and shall be referred back to a larger, and possibly more reliable committee of investigation.'

through with fewer victories than defeats.

Relative standing of Atlanta, New Orleans and New Orleans as the three leaders in the percentage column was unchanged, but the Memphis Chickasaws, who had been second, slipped to Little Rock, found that the Chattanooga Lookouts had nosed them out of fourth place. Birmingham in sixth place, which was a new position, gained points during the week, but not enough to change their position in the standing. Mobile, eighth position, also gained points during the week.

Chattanooga's defense tightened up. Lookout twirlers allowed opponents but 16 runs in seven games. Meanwhile, the Atlanta Braves were leading the ball for 67 hits, and in the field were making but six errors. Their defensive showing was the best in the league during the week, as was Atlanta's, as the Atlanta Braves out-hit the Lookouts.

Mobile's improved showing was made despite the fact that the Bears ran up 25 errors. Eleven of these were made by the pitchers.

Whether the drive launched by second divisions teams has the stamp of permanency may be decided during the coming week. Chattanooga is leading the second division series, while Atlanta and Birmingham will fight it out. Memphis moves down to New Orleans while the fastest of the Rock Travelers meet the Mobile Bears.

Leading in Atlanta's attack is the veteran Red Smith, topping the league with an average of .418, closely followed by D. W. Moore, the Chattanooga catcher, and Barbara, Memphis utility man, both of whom are batting .400.

The Birmingham Barons, who have been next in line in team hitting, drove out 93 hits in seven games last week.

LOS ANGELES BACK IN HANGAR AFTER TRIP TO PORTO RICO

Lakehurst, N. J., May 10.—The navy dirigible Los Angeles has completed, without mishap, her longest voyage since she came here from Germany. She was placed in her hangar at 6 o'clock Sunday morning after a two-weeks' cruise to Porto Rico.

The Los Angeles arrived over the Lakehurst field at 3:10 o'clock after an uneventful return trip. It was not until three hours later, however, and after twelve attempts had been made to bring the giant craft to earth, that she was guided into the hangar.

The delay in bringing the ship to ground, according to Captain George V. Siegel, was due to the fact that considerable ballast had been released over the Florida keys when a rainstorm drenched the dirigible's fabric, increasing its weight. More than 40,000 cubic feet of ballast had been discharged from the gas bags before the air monster was brought within reach of the ground crew here, after the fabric had dried.

Captain Siegel reported that the Los Angeles had "stood up well" under the strenuous trip. The ship left Mayaguez, Porto Rico, at 3:30 P. M. Sunday afternoon and was 37 hours and 40 minutes returning to Lakehurst. The voyage south was made in about 32 hours.

More than 40,000 cubic feet of ballast had been discharged from the gas bags before the air monster was brought within reach of the ground crew here, after the fabric had dried.

Captain Siegel reported that the Los Angeles had "stood up well" under the strenuous trip. The ship left Mayaguez, Porto Rico, at 3:30 P. M. Sunday afternoon and was 37 hours and 40 minutes returning to Lakehurst. The voyage south was made in about 32 hours.

The delay in bringing the ship to ground, according to Captain George V. Siegel, was due to the fact that considerable ballast had been released over the Florida keys when a rainstorm drenched the dirigible's fabric, increasing its weight. More than 40,000 cubic feet of ballast had been discharged from the gas bags before the air monster was brought within reach of the ground crew here, after the fabric had dried.

MEASURES OF ART TO ARRIVE TODAY

A special express car, heavily guarded, carrying approximately 300 famous paintings and pieces of sculpture by noted painters and sculptors, will arrive in Atlanta this morning. Contents of the express car are insured for $1,000,000.

Among the artists whose works are included in the car are: John Singer Sargent, George de Forest Brush, Nicolai Sechin, Douglas Volk and Violet Oakley. Of special interest to lovers of art of the southern United States is the sculpture by Augustus Lukeman, new Stone Mountain sculptor.

Paintings and sculpture will be exhibited at the Biltmore hotel for two weeks, beginning next Saturday. A banquet at which approximately 400 leaders of Atlanta and about 25 famous artists will be present will be held at the hotel Saturday night.

The car will be unloaded as soon as it arrives, and its treasures will be immediately taken to the Biltmore hotel to be placed by officials of the Grand Central Art Galleries of New York.

The exhibit will be the second shown here by the Grand Central Art Galleries of New York. The Atlanta exhibit is being sponsored by the art committee of the chamber of commerce, of which J. J. Harvey is chairman. Other local organizations also are backing the event.

Plans To Make Defense Day Regular Annual Event Await Approval of White House

Armistice Day Selected as Proper Occasion for Proposed Yearly Muster of National Strength

Washington, May 10.—General staff plans for making defense day a regular annual event to be held each year coincident with Armistice day exercises November 11 have been completed and await only white house approval to be put in motion. The project is expected to be represented to the president soon for final action, with urgent recommendations of the Reserve Officers' association that it be approved.

Pending such approval details of the staff plan are not available. It was formulated, however, after a careful study of reports from all corps area commanders and from national guard and reserve officers all over the country, and is believed to follow closely the recommendations of the association of reserve officers.

Select Armistice Day. During the recent tour of active duty in Washington, attached to the general staff, a group of reserve officers drawn from all nine corps areas, a committee was named to look into the defense day question and report back to the war department and the association. The committee report, which urged selection of armistice day as the proper occasion for the proposed annual "muster" for the purpose of "taking periodic stock of our national defense" was unanimously approved by the full group and also by the association, which has caused it to be widely distributed among its officer members. The special committee was headed by Colonel Harry C. Jones, of Baltimore, commanding officer of the 33rd infantry, organized reserve.

The defense test last year was held September 12, commemorating the battle of St. Mihiel by direction of General Pershing.

It was first suggested to conduct it the following day as a tribute to General Pershing on his 64th birthday, when his active army service came to an end, but he preferred that anniversary of the first American major offensive operation of the world war be observed instead.

Commenting on the desirability of shifting the date this year and hereafter to Armistice day, November 11, the reserve officer committee said: "Armistice day provides the ideal time. It is sufficiently historical and is a legal holiday in most states. It comes at a time of the year when climatic conditions are favorable, when school units can be assembled with least objection, and near the end of the training period for reserves, national guard, R. O. T. C. and G. M. T. C. units."

A definite and positive attitude on the part of the war department regarding details. "The committee report on the part of the purpose of 'taking periodic stock of our national defense' was unanimously approved by the full group and also by the association, which has

TAX EQUALIZATION LAW REPEAL SEEN

Norman Park, Ga., May 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—Abolishment of the state highway department, but the retention of a highway board; repealing of the tax equalization law, and the enactment of an income tax amendment, are some of the matters which will have the support of Representative R. J. Lewis, one of the two legislators from Colquitt county in the coming session of the general assembly.

The representative from Colquitt county declares that he has not prepared a single measure which he intends to submit, but is for the opinion that bills will be introduced covering the legislation mentioned, and that such will receive his favor.

"I would prefer to help perfect and pass bills which I approve, and introduced by others," said Mr. Lewis, "than to have a bunch of pet measures thrown up."

Favors Tax Repeal. "I favor the repeal of the tax equalization law, and the enactment of an income tax," declared Representative Lewis, "but I shall oppose the repeal of the inheritance tax, but I would favor an equitable modification of property for ad valorem taxes."

Concerning possible legislation affecting the state highway department, and its future policy, the representative from Colquitt says: "I favor abolishing the state highway department, and instead letting funds for road work would be expended by several counties, and the work supervised by them. However, I would favor retaining a highway board and a highway fund to build highways throughout the state."

"I would favor letting the state highway board name the roads on which the money from the highway fund shall be expended, but would prefer letting the construction and upkeep or maintenance of the roads be handled by the county officials."

Judicial Change Needed. Mr. Lewis is in favor of a revision of the judicial system in Georgia, as well as the enactment of legislation which would make for a greater Georgia educationally, and would provide more opportunity to school children, especially those of the common schools.

"I favor a revision of our judicial system," said Representative Lewis, "but do not care to go further in the discussion of this subject."

"I am in favor of providing liberal appropriations for the support of the educational system of Georgia, and especially that of the common schools throughout the state. To go forward, Georgia must do so educationally. I am also in favor of printing text books by the state, and have books to be sold to the school children at actual cost by the state."

There are other matters which will perhaps come up in the general assembly, but he will claim the attention of Representative Lewis, he said, but which he could not forecast at the present.

Great Theatrical Benefit For Firemen's Fund Praised

PROMOTERS PREDICT $6,000 MINIMUM RECEIPTS
The fund being raised by the people of Atlanta for the families of the six firemen killed in last Sunday's fire, Sunday passed the $6,000 mark.

New subscriptions during the day included: John W. Grant, $100; Peachtree Christian church, $180.52; Payne Memorial church, $100.

Following announcement Sunday of the staging of a monster benefit performance at the auditorium at 10:30 o'clock Thursday night, entire proceeds to go to the firemen's relief fund for the benefit of widows and orphans of firemen killed in the recent tragic warehouse fire, universal responses of approval were received Sunday by the committee in charge, according to Manager Thomas H. James, of Loew's Grand theater, chairman of the committee.

"The instantaneous approval given the proposed benefit show indicates that the people of Atlanta make it a glorious success," Mr. James declared. "Never was a more successful cause and a more successful fund-raiser seen a bigger or better show than we will present at the auditorium for those who have lost their loved ones in the fire."

All Are Contributing. Members of all theatrical organizations in Atlanta are cooperating in a unit to make the show a success and all are working to raise a fund which will reach $6,000 as a minimum. The show will be given at Loew's Grand theater, in New York, will be reproduced in some respects in Atlanta and some of the notable features of that famous show will be presented here.

"We are going to give the people a $5 show for $1 and every cent of the receipts will go to the firemen's fund," Mr. James declared. "Tickets are now on sale at all local theaters and also can be purchased from members of the fire department. Firemen will have full charge of the ticket sales, will handle all the money and will get every cent for their benefit fund."

Memorial Services. A special memorial service was conducted Sunday night at the Payne Memorial church for the six Atlanta firemen who lost their lives in Wednesday's fire. The memorial sermon was preached by Rev. W. J. DeBardeleben, pastor of the church, located at 193 Hunnicutt street.

Following the service a contribution was taken for the widows and families of the dead firemen, $100 being contributed.

The constitution has received a check for $10 for the fund from Mr. and Mrs. M. U. Smith.

New Peachtree Christian Church Names Officers

Initial services were held Sunday by the Peachtree Christian church in the auditorium of the Atlanta Woman's club, and a meeting of the church was held at 9:30 o'clock and almost 1,400 at the regular morning service. Dr. J. C. DeBardeleben, 15 years pastor of the First Christian church, filled the pulpit of the new church, with which he will be connected in the future.

At a short congregational meeting following services Sunday morning, L. J. Marberry was elected treasurer, and Joseph Rhodes members of the board of trustees. A business meeting will be held at 8 o'clock tonight in the church, and the women's missionary society will be formed at 8 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the woman's club. The Thrift Shop, a ten room operated by the Ladies' Aid society at 28 West Mitchell street for the purpose of raising money toward the new church, will be continued, it was announced.

The offering taken up in the Bible school and a special offering taken after the morning services, will be given to the families of the six firemen who lost their lives during last week. The amount raised was $1,022.

Dr. Bricker paid a beautiful tribute to mothers in his address Sunday morning and made an eloquent plea to his hearers to serve diligently the living mothers and to cherish the memory of those who have passed on.

Fifteen new members were taken into the church, and a number of others were transferred from other congregations.

Mrs. Victor Clark, for five years organist at the First Christian church, will act as choir director for the new church, with Mrs. Eloise Vining Sullivan, soprano; Miss Lillian Smith, contralto; Charles Wynne, tenor; Thomas Denny, baritone; Will Chase, violinist.

Construction of the new church, which will be erected on a lot already purchased at the corner of Peachtree and Spring streets, will begin immediately and the architect's plans call for one of the most magnificent structures in the city. Until it is completed, services will continue to be held in the auditorium of the woman's club.

MOTHER REMEMBERED AT HOLMES INSTITUTE
Mother's day was observed by students and friends of the Holmes Institute in the chapel Sunday afternoon by impressive exercises.

Rev. H. F. Barnes, of Macon, Ga., was the principal speaker. "The love of mother does not end in this world, but follows the children through all adversities of life," he said. "You should love and obey your mother."

Rev. B. K. Holmes, president, said the place the mother occupies in the country was more important than the soldiers who died upon the battlefield for the love of their country. The love of mothers has made it possible for many young people to receive an education which has prepared them for the duties of life, he stated.

Rev. Holmes spoke in Holsey temple, C. M. E. church, at the night service on the subject, "A Christian a New Creature." Rev. G. H. Carter, pastor, made the closing address.
